Xerox Canada CEO named one of *100 Most Powerful Executives in Corporate America

Kevin Warren first Canadian CEO named to magazine's prestigious list

TORONTO, ON, Feb. 10, 2009 — Xerox Canada is pleased to announce that Kevin Warren, president and CEO, has been named one of Black Enterprise Magazine's "100 most powerful executives in Corporate America." Warren's appointment makes him the first CEO of a Canadian company to be named to the list since its inception in 2005.

The list was compiled after six months of intensive research to identify dynamic, high-level professionals who are leading and re-engineering a vast array of businesses.

The final tally includes nine CEOs, 11 division chief executives, and a host of top executives that significantly contribute to their company's revenues. Each executive holds a senior management position at one of the top 1,000 publicly traded companies or at an international corporation grossing revenues of $1 billion or more.

Xerox Corporation president Ursula Burns and Quincy Allen, president, Production Systems Group were also named to the 2009 list.

"Kevin has served as an excellent role model in both the business and philanthropic community in Canada," says Damon Knights, president, NBMBAA Toronto. "In his relatively short time as Xerox Canada CEO, he has become a founding member of our organization, volunteers on numerous boards, and has made youth-focused charities a priority. We congratulate him on his appointment to Black Enterprise's Top 100, and look forward to continuing our relationship with him and Xerox well into the future."

The selection criteria and comprehensive profiles of the 100 Most Powerful Executives in Corporate America is available in the February 2009 issue of Black Enterprise Magazine, available on newsstands now.

Kevin Warren has served as Xerox Canada's president and CEO since January 2008. Prior to this, he led the successful transition of Xerox's $1.5 billion purchase of Global Imaging Systems and served as senior vice president of U.S. Eastern Sales Operations.

Warren earned his BSc in finance from Georgetown University in 1984 and graduated from the Advanced Management Program at Harvard Business School. He is a member of the first international chapter of the National Black MBA Association, based in Toronto, and sits on the national board of Big Brothers Big Sisters of America. He also sits on the board of the Conference Board of Canada, and is a member of the Young Presidents Organization (YPO) and the Executive Leadership Council.
